GAINESVILLE, FLORIDA, SATURDAY, MARCH 6, 1909

TEN CENTS A WEEK

THE BEAUTIFUL SNOW COVERS ENTIRE NORTH

Storm Was Worst in Washington for Ten Years.
Especially Severe in New York.

NEW YORK, March 5.—As a result of a March blizzard which swept down unannounced during Wednesday night, the entire middle Atlantic seaboard from New York to Norfolk found itself Thursday buried in an avalanche of snow and swept by destructive winds. For a time here yesterday conditions seemed to threaten a repetition of the great blizzard of March 12, 1888, but last night the storm sank to less alarming proportions.

For the telephone and telegraph companies the storm was one of the worst in years. The worst of the snow hurricane struck the wedge of territory which included Washington and Baltimore. The region south of Philadelphia was well nigh a blank on the map for the greater part of the day.

Reports from Perryville, Md., sixty miles below Philadelphia, said last night that for thirty miles beyond that point every wire was down. These lines include some of the best and most expensively constructed wires in the country.

The first train from Washington to reach Jersey City yesterday arrived at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and it was due at 7:08 a. m.

In New York City three lives were lost in the sinking of six Baltimore & Ohio coal barges at St. George, Staten Island. In New York harbor barges under tow were blown ashore while tugs and small boats went scurrying for cover.

Between Baltimore and Washington hundreds of telegraph poles were carried down by the weight of snow and ice and the wind. North and east of the city trains are merely creeping along without aid of telegraphic orders. It may be a week before normal conditions are restored.

At no previous time in the city's history has the street car service been dealt so severe a blow. The financial loss is incalculable.

Thousands of people who expected to attend the inaugural ceremonies in Washington were unable to obtain transportation there.

Baltimore Cut Off.

BALTIMORE, March 5.—(By United Wireless)—Thousands of people bound for the inaugural ceremonies in Washington were detained yesterday by reason of paralyzed train traffic resulting from a blizzard. For hours Baltimore was cut off from communication with the outside world.

Almost the whole city lay under a net work of fallen wires. Neither of the two telegraph companies had a single wire working out of Baltimore and the telephone service was badly crippled locally and altogether useless as to outside points. The storm caused the death of Policeman Thomas H. Worthington, who was removing a fallen "dead" wire when a live wire fell, killing him instantly. A woman was reported killed in north-east Baltimore.

A telegraph cable strung across the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio at Green Mount avenue, sagged so as to stop trains and had to be cut to permit them to pass. The damage to wires extended in all directions within a radius of thirty miles of this city.

Suffering at Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Much suffering was caused among the vast inauguration crowd here by the wintry winds, the slush under foot and freezing temperature.

Two persons were reported dead as a result of exposure and many other persons are seriously ill. The dead:

Andrew Doran, 55 years old, a Pullman conductor, who died at the union station.

Norman A. Stall, 45 years old, of Richmond, Va., who was seized with an attack of apoplexy.

All of the hospitals report that they have treated numerous cases of exhaustion among persons who stood for many hours in the slush and snow viewing the inaugural parade.

Atlanta the Open Gate.

ATLANTA, March 5.—Storm-locked for six hours, with not a single telegraph or telephone wire in operation in any direction, Washington finally secured communication with the outside world through the Atlanta office of the Associated Press, and for the greater part of the day this was the only news service wire out of the National Capital.

The wires from Atlanta to Chicago and from Chicago to New York were not interfered with, and after communication had been established to Washington news from the Atlanta office of the Associated Press, and likewise the news of the world was handled to the National Capital through the Atlanta office.

Battleships Have Rough Time.

NORFOLK, Va., March 5.—With the wind blowing nearly forty miles an hour across the Hampton Roads the battleships of the Sperry fleet at anchor there had a rough time of it Wednesday night and Thursday. The great machines of war rode through the storm in perfect safety but several small boats and launches were sunk or driven ashore. There was no loss of life. The admiral's launch from the battleship Wisconsin was sunk.

Mud Still Being Used.

Notwithstanding the fact that The Sun has time and again called attention to the inferior article being used on the streets around the square, it seems that they will use nothing else but the real mud for these improvements. Chairman Graves of the street committee said that no more of the sand and clay would be used to fill up the depressions in the streets like that used in front of the postoffice block, but no later than Friday this same class of material was being hauled for West Main street, and last week several loads were dumped in front of the Bauknight property on West Main. When it rains it is really worse than the water holes, and it certainly looks as if it was a very useless expense to haul sand and mud from outside the city limits to dump around the square, later having the same sand hauled off the square when it has washed into the gutters. Who is to blame? And if it was ordered stopped, why was it not done?

DR. CLINE MARRIED ONE WOMAN TWICE

And No Telling How Many of the Innocent Creatures
He Has Duped Once.

By reference to the following clipping more will be learned of Dr. A. E. Cline, who left this city a few nights since, having been caught at Lake Butler by one of his endorsers on a note and made to shell out the equivalent of the note before allowed to proceed further.

The Doctor has probably skipped this city with about $50 in cash, besides there is one of his notes out for $150 endorsed by three citizens that will doubtless have to stand the loss.

While the indebtedness he had accumulated here amounted to several hundred dollars, in most cases it was for furnishings and other necessities, and as none of this has been taken away or sold the original owners will be able to claim everything, as the goods are always sold with a lease attachment.

The following article appeared in the columns of the local paper published at Statesboro, Ga.:

"By reference to a clipping from The Wadesboro (N. C.) Messenger and Intelligencer, which is reproduced in another column, it will be seen that our old-time fellow-citizen and friend, Dr. A. E. Cline, is once again able to fill some newspaper space.

"It seems that 'the Doc' is rather addicted to matrimony, having married one woman twice and married several others in various sections of the country, going first under one name and then another. Just how many living wives this scoundrel has is hard to estimate. He seems slick enough to fool some young girl in every town he goes to, and so far has escaped the penitentiary, a place he will eventually land. Why he has escaped so far is one of the 'seven wonders.'

"The last marriage was pulled off at Gainesville, Fla., after he was compelled to skip the limits of North Carolina to escape an indictment. While here last spring he had a rather checkered career, swindled everybody that he was able to touch, and that was a good many. While here during the fall he came near getting some of what was coming to him. The clutches of the chain-gang came near fastening on him, but unfortunately for the entire country he was able to escape.

"He got off light here, but there was a certain element of the white-livered variety who insisted he was a great martyr just before his demise. The Groveland South Georgian printed a long-winded howl about the indignities heaped upon Dr. Cline by Sheriff Kendrick simply because he brought him here after desperate and expensive struggle to extradite him, and after he had made repeated attempts to break jail.

"The atmosphere around Gainesville has probably grown uncomfortably warm for 'the Doc' by this time and in all probability he has skipped out in newer fields and greener pastures."

Douglass Talks of Killing at the Heights in August

Thomas Douglass, the negro arrested and brought from Quincy on Friday by Sheriff Ramsey on two charges, assault with intent to kill and also murder, was seen at the jail by a Sun reporter and talked freely of the killing.

He claims he is entirely innocent of the charge of murder, but he left the scene owing to jealousy existing against him by the negroes of the place.

"On the night of the killing," said Douglass, "we were all at a festival given near Orange Heights, and the majority were more or less under the influence of whiskey, in fact, all were drunk, and as there was so much shooting going on around there it would be hard to tell just who fired the shot which killed the man instantly.

"Shortly after the man fell someone in the crowd hollered out that 'Douglass killed him,' and knowing the amount of animosity that the negroes had against me I decided to beat it from Orange Heights until the affair was cleared up.

"I first visited Savannah, then later came back as far as Waycross, where I worked for some time, or until December 1, then coming down as far as Highland, when I wrote for my wife to come to me. Some of the Orange Heights people, learning of my whereabouts, preceded her and while I was waiting at the depot to meet her I saw them alight from the train, and I made for West Florida, working finally at Quincy until my arrest."

Douglass stated that he intended to secure a lawyer and was positive that he would come clear when the case was called for trial, for the negro was shot with a shotgun and he knew of no such weapon being anywhere around the festival.

Aged Negro Brutally Beaten and Almost Cremated

SELMA, Ala., March 5.—News reached Selma today that Wednesday night near Summerfield, Mose Coleman, an aged negro who lives in that community, was decoyed away from home by two white men and beaten severely.

When he called his son to help him, one of the white men shot the son, causing a flesh wound in the abdomen. The young men were John Rutledge and Bertram Tail, it is reported.

A few weeks ago the men, it is claimed, cut a bee tree belonging to the negro and he reported it to Mr. Campbell, justice of the peace at Summerfield. Having been reported to the authorities by the negro, greatly incensed the young men, it is claimed, and hence they proceeded to his home and told him if he would go with them over to Mr. Campbell's place, they would "settle" with him for the tree.

It is said, when they had promised to reimburse the old man, he at once agreed to accompany them to the place designated by Coleman's home.

It is charged that the young men set upon their aged victim and beat him unmercifully. After they assaulted and bruised him, they placed dry pine straw around his body and set it on fire.

Cries brought his son to his assistance, and when he was approaching one of the young men shot the boy, causing a painful flesh wound.

A physician was kept busy all night trying to save his life. It is said that an operation will be necessary to save his life. When help reached him he was insensible.

How Tom Wynne Came to Kill Negro Near Bronson

Following is a clipping taken from The Bronson Times-Democrat concerning the killing of the negro near there:

"T. W. Wynne, manager of the sawmill of J. O. McLaurin & Co., about eight miles north of Bronson, last Thursday shot and killed Ed Green, a negro teamster in the employ of Sam Day, at the latter's wood camp.

"Mr. Wynne gave himself up and was given a preliminary hearing Saturday afternoon before Judge Friedman, State Attorney J. M. Elvers being present in behalf of the State.

"Sam Day, employer of the negro who was killed, was the first witness for the State. Mr. Day testified that as he and Mr. Wynne came up to the car where Ed Green was coming up with a load of wood, Green, who was on a mule, pulled a pistol and pointed it at Mr. Wynne. Before he could fire Mr. Wynne, who had a shotgun, shot the negro to save his own life. Green was known to have a pistol, and it is thought that when he saw Mr. Wynne with a gun he expected to be disarmed, and he put up a fight which, but for his quickness, would have cost Mr. Wynne his life.

"Two negroes who saw the affair also testified for the State, each corroborating Mr. Day's testimony. Mr. Wynne was discharged, the State attorney saying there was no ground upon which to hold him.

"Mr. Wynne has many friends in Levy and Alachua counties who will be glad to learn the outcome of the case."

Commissioner McLin's Report as to Convicts

The tenth biennial report of the Commissioner of Agriculture of Florida for the period beginning January 1, 1907, and ending December 31, 1908, has been completed, and a copy of it received by The Sun. It is a book of 161 pages, and contains much valuable information. From it is learned that during the year 1908, 1,282 prisoners were on hand January 1st, and 446 committed during the year; 313 were discharged and the enormously large number of 127 were pardoned. Also that 54 escaped, 27 of whom were recaptured, and 26 died, and 4 became insane. On January 1, 1909, there were in the camps, 1,222 prisoners. There were no white females, but 75 colored females, 356 colored males and 75 white males committed last year. Duval county sent up the largest number, 81; St. Johns county sent up the next largest batch, 27; Lee and Sumner counties sent none; 54 were sentenced for life terms.

The compilation is a credit to Commissioner McLin, as it shows much careful information, valuable to every taxpayer in Florida.

AMUSEMENTS

Famous Singer May Come.

Since The Sun announced that Madame Calve, the great singer, would visit Gainesville if a sufficient number would obligate themselves to purchase tickets, many have signified a desire to have the probability of her coming assume the nature of a certainty.

As before stated, Madame Calve will be in Florida within the next two weeks, her manager having arranged dates for Miami, St. Augustine and Jacksonville, and if matters can be satisfactorily arranged, she will make a date for Gainesville during the week beginning March 14th.

In order to ascertain the patronage that would be accorded her appearance here, Manager Kalbfeld has placed a list at the store of Miller & Vidal, and requests all who will purchase tickets to call at the above-named place and sign the list, designating the number of tickets they can use. This must be attended to not later than Monday, as it will not be possible to arrange for the engagement after that date.

The appearance of Madame Calve in Gainesville would be a great advertisement for the city, and would bring many people here from Ocala, Palatka and other places owing to the cheaper transportation rate than to Jacksonville.

Don't wait, but call at the store today and designate the number of tickets you will take. The opportunity may never be presented again.

Electric Theatre.

No matter what your walk in life may be; no matter how old or young; how intelligent or ignorant; how busy or idle; how rich or how poor, you cannot afford to join John Ennor, and go over the globe with him in a parlor car. He is the original originator of travelogues and nature romances and his glimpses of real life in the outer world possess an atmosphere and character that is entirely of his own. He gives you solid chunks of this earth direct from the spot.

Mr. Ennor will be at the Electric Theatre the coming week and all should hear him on Monday night. Everything is beautifully illustrated. He is the greatest of all travelers.

DREADFUL DISEASE IS CURED BY CUTICURA

"My six year old daughter had the dreadful disease called hives for two months. She became affected by playing with children who had it, although we did not know it. By scratching she caused large sores which were irritating. Her body was a complete sore but it was worse on her arms and back. We employed a physician who left medicine but it did not help her and I tried several remedies but without avail. Seeing the Cuticura Remedies advertised, I thought I would try them. I gave her a hot bath daily with Cuticura Soap and anointed her body with Cuticura Ointment. The first treatment relieved the itching and in a short time the disease disappeared. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies for all skin diseases and give them my greatest praise. Mrs. Geo. L. Fridhoff, R. F. D. 1, Warren, Mich., June 30 and July 13, 1908."

I used different kinds of things but each kind made it worse until I read of the Cuticura Remedies, and one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment cured him like magic. I would not be without it in the house and I have recommended it to all my friends. Mrs. J. D. Maxwell, 6th St., Woodside, Long Island, N. Y., May 21, 1908."

CAN YOU SPELL?

Test Your Ability by Writing This Jumble From Dictation.

It is some time ago since spelling bees were popular forms of entertainment in this country, but still one occasionally comes across the very superior person who tells you he can easily spell any word ever printed in a dictionary. If ever you meet this type of man, just ask somebody to dictate the following jumble to him and see how many mistakes he will make:

"Antinous, a disappointed, desiccated physicist, was peeling potatoes in an embarrassing and harassing way. His idiosyncrasy and privilege was to eat mayonnaise and mussels while staring at the Pleiades and seizing people's tricycles and velocipedes. He was an erring tetotaler and had been on a picayune jamboree. He rode a palfrey stallion and carried a salable papier mache bouquet of asters, phlox, mullein, chrysanthemums, rhododendrons, fuchsias and nasturtiums."

"He wore a sibyl's resplendent turquoise paraphernalia, an ormolu yashmak and astrakhan chaparejos. He drank crystallizable and disagreeable curacao juleps through a straw. He stole some moneys and hid them under a peddler's mahogany bedstead and mattress."

"Like a fiend in an ecstasy of gaiety I rushed after him into the maelstrom, or melee, and held him as in a vise. I could not feaze him, however, and he addressed me, with autocracy, in the following imbecile words, which sounded like a soliloquy or a superseding paean on an oboe: 'You are a ratable lunamoth, a salaming vizier, an equinoctial coryphee and an isosceles daguerreotype.'"—New York Mail.

A Curious Story.

The queen of Hanover, wife of King Ernest Augustus of Hanover (better known as the Duke of Cumberland, son of George III.), died at Hanover about 1842 of an illness which baffled the skill of her doctors as to its real cause. During her illness a clairvoyant was consulted, who wrote certain curious signs and words on the door of her bedroom; but, although these mystic words were repeated over and over again, the queen died. The king of Hanover after his wife's death gave orders that her bedroom should always be kept as though the queen would sleep there at night. The bed was turned down, the pillows reshaken, hot water brought and the daintiest slippers laid in readiness for her.—Home Notes.

Are Drugs Necessary? Do Drugs Cure Disease? Can Nature be Assisted?

If people were born right and afterwards lived right, there would be no use for medicine. Every doctor knows this. So do other well-informed people.

One thing more. When a person lives wrongly, or acquires bodily weakness by heredity, medicine can do only very little. Medicine cannot cure him. Only charlatans claim that medicines will cure disease. Medicines may palliate symptoms. Medicines may urge the powers of Nature to resist disease. Medicines sometimes arouse the efforts of the human body to right itself against derangements. This is the most that medicine can do.

A man accidentally puts his finger in the fire. Instinctively he wets his finger in his mouth, then blows on it for the cooling effect. This is no cure. He knows it very well. But it makes it feel better for the time being.

People eat unwisely. This produces dyspepsia or indigestion. The only rational cure is to eat correctly. Yet if a palliative is at hand the pains of indigestion can be mitigated, the throes of dyspepsia assuaged. The medicine cannot be said to have cured. It simply palliates disagreeable symptoms. The cure must come through right living.

Take Peruna, for instance. No one claims Peruna is a cure for dyspepsia. But Peruna will stimulate the stomach to perform its function properly. Peruna will increase the flow of digestive fluids, without which digestion cannot be carried on at all. It will increase the relish of food, the appetite.

It is admitted that all this can be accomplished by right living, but there are so many people who either will not or do not know how to eat correctly that a tremendous amount of good can be done by the wise use of Peruna.

A stomach that has been frequently abused performs the function of digestion very lazily. Such a stomach allows the food to remain undigested for some time after it is swallowed. This leads to fermentation of the food. Sour stomach is the result. This goes on week after week, until the blood is poisoned with the products of fermentation. This condition is very apt to produce rheumatism.

It is not claimed that Peruna will cure rheumatism. Nothing will cure rheumatism but correct living. But it is claimed that Peruna will assist a badly abused stomach to perform its work.

If a person would correct his habits, persist in right eating and temperate ways, undoubtedly the stomach would right itself, the blood would rid itself of the poison, and everything would be right. But as said before there are a multitude of people who will not or cannot adopt right methods of living. To such people Peruna is a boon. A dose before meals will assist the stomach to do its work. This prevents fermentation of the food, brings about normal digestion, and all the train of ills that follow indigestion disappear.

In other words, Peruna is helpful to those who live badly, or those who have acquired some chronic weakness. Peruna does not cure, but it assists the powers of Nature to bring about a cure. The whip does not increase the power of the horse to pull a load, but judiciously used it stimulates the horse to use his powers at the right time, without which he could not have pulled the load.

This illustrates the effect of Peruna, or any other good remedy upon the system. Taken at the right time, it calls forth the powers of the human system to meet the enroachments of disease, and thus cuts short, if not entirely ends, the diseased action.

No one should ever attempt to substitute medicine in the place of right living. In the end such an attempt will prove a disaster. But an occasional use of the right medicine at the right time is a godsend, and no reasonable person will undertake to deny it.

Those who know how to use Peruna find it of untold value. By and by the world will get wise enough so that through correct living no medicine at all will be needed. But that time has not arrived. In the meantime, while the world is approaching that perfection in which all medicine will be eliminated, Peruna is a handy remedy to have in the house.

Slight derangements of the stomach, slight catarrhal attacks of the liver, the throat, bronchial tubes, lungs or bowels; these attacks are sure to lead to grave diseases, and can be averted by the judicious use of Peruna.

Wouldn't you like to read a few unsolicited testimonials from people who have used Peruna, and who stand ready to confirm the above statements concerning it. If so, address the Peruna Drug Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio, and we will send some prepaid.

The House extended Speaker Cannon a unanimous vote of thanks before adjourning on March 4th. No matter how much his rulings may be criticised for political effect, it is generally conceded that the "Old Man" is correct.

Mr. Taft's announcement that he is committed to an immediate revision in the tariff and enforcement of the schedule by June 1st is reassuring, as it indicates the new President's intention not to have this question hanging over business longer than necessary.

Gov. Wilson of Kentucky insists upon the liberty of the press, and commends the paper that criticised the court officials for neglect to put down lawlessness. In this we see that Kentuckians may be excused for making a temporary secession from their old party stamping grounds—they got a good man, even if they were compelled to wander afield to bag him.—Times-Union.

The jurors in the Carmack murder case at Nashville are growing restless, and have requested Judge Hart to hurry things along. They say it is aw-planting time; and as they are all farmers their presence is greatly needed at home. It is not likely that a minority, whether for conviction or acquittal, will hold out long under such circumstances, and the side that has the best staying qualities is going to get the verdict in this case.

PLEA FOR THE SEMINOLES.

Making a plea for the Indians of the Everglades of Florida—the people who yet live in spite of the advancing civilization of the white man in the fastnesses of this virtually unexplored territory—Rev. Irenaeus Trout recently accomplished good work for his cause, says The Savannah Press.

Mr. Trout recounted the manner of life in the Everglades of the Seminoles, among whom he is working in connection with Dr. Godden, an English physician who has lived among them for a number of years. They make their home at a settlement owned by the Episcopal Church. This is a reservation of 650 acres, and as yet it is but little developed. The church has been limited in its means for the work, and while the two men have accomplished a great deal in the way of gaining the confidence of the Indians, and getting them interested in the life of the white man, progress has been hampered because of a lack of funds to turn the land to account.

This tract is to be converted into a farm to be cultivated by the Indians on shares by way of teaching them to farm. The Rev. Mr. Trout points out the fact that it will not be very long until the Indians will be compelled to give up hunting and their wild way of living, because the Everglades are being bought up by sugar syndicates and the State is carrying on the work of reclamation.

The remnant of the tribe remaining in the Everglades has firmly refused aid from the Government or to live on a reservation, and the plea that the missionary makes is that it is incumbent upon the white man to educate them into ways of usefulness, so that they may become self-supporting when they are finally forced to leave the 'glades.

No offering was made, but Mr. Trout received the pledges of several subscriptions, and at the different churches he has arranged for the receipt of subscriptions.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The Louisville Courier-Journal says: "While the salary-raising fever was at its height it would not have been out of the way to remember the poor ambassadors and poorer ministers, condemned, like the famous Queen of Spain, to do their washing at home for economy's sake. On Nov. 23 last Lars Anderson of New York was officially credited by Mr. Treasurer George R. Sheldon with a campaign contribution of $25,000; he is now spoken of as the most likely successor to Lloyd Griscom as Ambassador to Italy. Is this a case of reward, of cause and effect, of the evil tendency which we have pointed out? And if not, why not?"

The Indianapolis News says: "Congress ought long ago to have taken a stand against this commission craze. The only way to maintain this Government as a government of law is to insist that nothing shall be done by the Government, or by any of its departments, for which there is not express legal authority. The mere fact that a restless and dictatorial executive thinks that there are many things that ought to be done is no reason for permitting him to do them without legal warrant. Possibly it is not within the powers of Congress to prevent a President from appointing as many commissions as he pleases, but it can refuse to recognize them in any way, refuse to receive their reports, and refuse to permit the reports to be printed or to be paid for at public cost. The thing is an abuse and of a grave character."

An Ohio clergyman asserts that kissing is "intoxicating." That may give the habit a boom in States which have recently adopted prohibition.

PHILANTHROPIC JUDGE GARY.

When Judge Gary, the head of the United States Steel Corporation, appeared before the Committee of Ways and Means, he declared that his company does not care for maintaining the present tariff on steel, and can very well afford to get along without it, but tariff reduction will drive the smaller steel concerns to the wall. It was only philanthropy, so he tried to make it appear, that induced him to plead for the life of the small concerns.

Now the same Judge Gary has started a trade war, of which it is thought will bring ruin to some of the small companies. Does the judge contemplate coming to the rescue of these small firms when they are found to be crippled and commit another act of philanthropy by gobbling them up for the steel trust, as he has done in the case of the Tennessee Coal & Iron Co.? Does he plan a still bigger trust?
